

IMPORTANT NOTICE REGARDING MR. BOB WAHL AND WRITERS WEEKLY

We want to clarify certain matters concerning Mr. Bob Wahl. Mr. Wahl has received all the services contracted with our company and is now seeking a refund while making public claims that are false and misleading. These actions have severely damaged the reputation of our business. Additionally, Mr. Wahl has shared his communications with a third party, Writers Weekly, who appears to be threatening our company. As per the contract, involving third parties in such matters is not authorized or legal. We do not recognize Writers Weekly as a legitimate point of contact, and we will not respond to any messages sent by them.

We are in the process of initiating a legal notice against both Mr. Bob Wahl and Writers Weekly for defamation and unauthorized interference. Attempting to coerce or bribe the company for any amount, including $3,000, will not succeed, all contracted services were fully delivered, and there is no possibility of a refund. We encourage our audience to review our website and posts to understand the truth of our services and the integrity with which we operate. We remain committed to transparency, professionalism, and the highest standards in all our client engagements.

Thank you for your understanding and support.